WANTED,

Satisfied at Present to Represent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. - .- A man who is possibly closer to Representative Flood than any other in Virginia is, said who is possibly closer to Representative Flood than any other in Virginia is, said to-day that there was no truth in the report that the tenth district representative would be a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination four years hence. The report had been widely published that Mr. Flood would aspire to the chair of the chief executive of the Commonwealth. He has no such ambitions at present. It is possible that he may some day desire to go to live in the executive mansion at Richmond, but just now he is content to remain in the House of Representative as the member from the Tenth Virginia district.

It is probable an effort will be made to induce Mr. Flood to accept the chairmanship of the Democratic National Congressional Committee. A Democrat said to-day he did not know a member of Gongress so well fitted for the place and expressed the wish that the Virginia representative would accept it, or, rather, said he would accept it and allow his friends to see that he was offered it. In case of Democratic success in the country, resulting in control of the House of Representatives, the position of chairman of the committee that had won the victory would give Mr. Flood a position of great importance on the floor of the House.

TRANSACTIONS OF CARTER ARE BEING INQUIRED INTO

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, September 27.—Cross-examination of Captain Oberlin M. Carter, charged with defrauding the government out of nearly $1,000,000 was continued today before Special Examiner Wyman. The inquiry into the defendant's stock and bond deals between 1893 and 1896, occupied the time at to-day's session. The financial transactions of the captain were taken up week by week and day by day, covering a period of four years. Indications are that it will take three to four weeks to conclude the questioning of the witness.

RETURN TO POWER Evidence That Ere Long the Re-

DEMOCRATS TO

WILL TEMPORIZE NO LONGER

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., September 30.— Democrats in this city who have been few months believe that there is much the present political outlook to encourage the party. Some of them who have followed American politics since the Civil followed American politics since the Civil War and longer declare that history is repeating itself, and that as the Republican party was swept out of Congress in 1874, after it had held undisputed possession of the government for fourteen years, so again it will lose control of Congress after holding it for more than ten years. They assert that never before has the Republican party had the trouble on its hands as it has to-day, and predict that before the coming session of Congress is at an end there will be such strained relations between the President and Congress that it will afford a counterpart of the row that developed between Cloveland and his party in Congress.

Temporize No Longer.

Temporize No Longer.

Temporize No Longer.

It is pointed out that the time has come when the Republican game of temporizing can no longer be played. It is well known to the unblased observer of politics in Washington that the Republicans have temporized on all the great questions of the day.

Take, for instance, the money question. They are ever and anon shaking hands with themselves and declaring that the gold standard has been irrevocably fixed by them. But just as soon as a campaign comes on they admit that it is not fixed, and that its maintenance depends on their return to power. And as a matter of fact, thoy have not refinitely settled the money question.

a matter of fact, they have not refinitely settled the money question.

Then there is the tariff. In every campaign for six years they have conceded that there are schedules that need revision, but that it must be done by the friends of the tariff. But it is noticed that there has not been the slightest revision in all those years.

that there has not been the slightest revision in all those years.

A Case of Bluff.

Take the railroad rate question. There has been nothing but the sort of bluffing that bespeaks the professional gambler in a poker game in evidence in their dealing with the railroad rate question. The party has endeavored to carry water on both shoulders and to serve two masters in all these matters, and it is believed that the first session of the Fifty-ninth Congress will carry those endeavors to a further degree than any of its predecessors, and that herein will they signally fall. It is thereon that the Democrats referred to above predicate their hopes and their belief that the Sixtleth Congress will be Democrate. I was talking to-day with one of the foremost political writers of the day, a man who has been in most intimate touch with the political of this country for more than thirty years, and he said:

"I believe that the Republican party is going to be more hopelessly split this winter in Congress than the Democrate ever have been. I look even for a rupture betwen the leaders of that body and the President."

Roosevelt and Bryan.

Already Senator Foraker has said that the President's position on the question of railroad rate legislation is almost identical with that of Mr. Bryan, and though he has denied any disagreement with the President, his speech of last Saturday is everywhere regarded as the gauntle thrown down by the opposition to the President's ideas, and at the same time a bid for the stand-pat, ant-rate support for the next Republican national convention. The people are ging to tire of this temporizing, and this, in addition to the split in the party, will certainly give the Democrats control of the House during the Sixtleth Congress. The Democratic party has wandered in the will-denness for several years, but the Republicans are certain to trade places with it in the next House. The Republicans realize that they have at last reached the day of reckoning, and there are many who admit that there is nothing of encouragement in that day for them. I have seen parties swept out of power time and again, first one party and then the other, but I have never seen such an auspicious time for a revulsion of popular feeling is there is to-day." Roosevelt and Bryan.
